BOOK OF AN ORPHAN

I had mother and father
I did not fall like manna
Now no one to call my family
Why did I become life's enemy?

Mother never fed me with a spoon
I only ate through her in the womb
I never had dad teach me how to walk
I only had to learn when people talk

Even Jesus that saved the world
Had parents he called his own
Am I really part of this world?
Cos there is no home to call my own

They say joy comes in the Morning
Mine wakes up dead, I keep Mourning
My day is always eclipsed with darkness
Nightmare has taken over my dreams

Time has changed but nothing did
Memories made with same old view
The past is my present nothing is new
Pain is the only friend I have indeed

After hell on earth will I make heaven?
I don't know what next would happen
Will I hear when angels will be singing?
Or it will be torment and fire burning

Don't I deserve parenting?
Is life testing my capability?
Was I created for nothing?
Could this be my destiny?

WILL OF SORROW

Sentenced to life in pain is how I feel
Suicide is my only remaining skill
I don't know what to call my ambition
The only work I do is my addiction

Black sheep of the family, oh my God
Bad egg amongst friends, always odd
Heart breaks, everything always ends
The loser where my luck always tends

Night times covered most of my tears
Day times shielded me from my fears
My only hope for tomorrow is breath
But my vision always presents death

I want to hand over my life like a relay
Cos if it's a heavenly race I am a delay.

SAD ROMANCE

Soured love coated with sweet savour
Dreams turned nightmares to harbour
Tons of lies outweighed truth on scale
Bit fast like snake with pace of a snail

Empty feelings with bloated emotions
No good intentions, just evil pleasures
Decorated with uncommitted devotions
Sad romance clothed in good measures

Chained thoughts and shattered heart
Dragged with heaviness hung on a cart
Damaged spirit laid on a shackled soul
Every part of my heart is a bored hole

It's come to an end with a sad mood blight
What a bitter journey, it is time to Alight.

LOVE IS SUICIDE

I live in nightmares and die when I wake
Death is the only truth, life itself is fake
My heart is broken with no piece to pick
But I'm still in love, sadness at its peak

I drown in my tears and float on my fears
Fever creeps in and burns me like hell fire
My life is half made and my body half ghost
The feels when hated by one you love most

Life has turned sour, death should be sweet
Love hates me, I cannot feel my heartbeat
Life wants to kill me; death wants me safe
Pain my only solace as love shows me hate

Life in me must die for me to live in death
Death knocks, I rest to take my last breath.

LOST SOUL

I am trying to find me lately
Can't tell how I went missing
Am I real and the world is fake?
Cos I'm easy to break like flake

How do I find my heart's broken pieces
When I can't find where all the piece is
My own tears flowing on me like rain
Can't feel nothing except it brings pain

Can this be real or it's just a dream
Soaked in darkness, no ray of beam
Loved too much till I lost myself
Now it's hard for me to love myself

To me love is now a synonym to hate
There's no such thing as a soulmate
Since I lost my soul and no one to mate
I have given up on love, so tell life it's late.

HAPPY NEVER AFTER (PT. 1)

I hear songs in my head, but I don't know the lyrics
I hear voices in my ears but don't know who's talking
I feel coldness in my heart but deep down I'm burning
I feel my skin shiver but underneath I'm boiling

Broken glasses got me picturing how my heart feels
Can't even place my hands on my chest, it'll bleed
I plead, please here my plea don't leave me
What's my offence did I love too much, I can't breath

Relentlessness my daily pill, I perceive death when I speak
Depression my daily meal, suicidal thoughts at its peak
Demons holding vigil in my head, they are all dancing
My angels telling me hold on it will soon be morning

This scars on me shows so much pain I've endured
Out of all of it, depression was all what I secured so I bottled my emotions, but the bottle was a see through Others were securing their insecurities, thought I'd so do too

Drowning in my thoughts, as it chokes but it's my only muse
I don't forget praying, I just lack the right words to us
Got constipation after been fed from all the lies
Thought I was fighting for love until, I fought for my life.

The truth is, in life nothing is real again
Fake friends, fake love who is to blame
Fake attitudes, fake rules stop calling my name
Pretense now the new form of love, what do you gain

I don't care about how anything no longer goes
I'm all about me, myself and all about my goals
They say family first, what if you are been put second
That's when you know anything can go in a second

I'on know if this live that I'm living is worth living
Cos death seems to be the only real thing existing Churches no longer save souls, wants souls that are saved
When I go through the holy book that's not what Jesus said

The pain I feel has killed me so many times
If you step into my life it's a landmine
The life I'm living my shadow is scared of following me they say leave the past behind, mine is always follows me

My days are dark, my nights are filled with nightmares
No were to run to, so I fell in love with all my fears
Steadily maltreated by the ones I call my peers
Now the hate in my heart has got no one to spare.

LOVE MEETS DEATH

I wish this was the road not taken
Now I am left behind and forsaken
I'm screwed like I did the wrong thing
Wish I was schooled of this love thing

Falling in love with me was all my fault
I needed us all you needed was support
Wrong choice we weren't meant to be
My every decision working against me

Loving you the only truth I told myself
Held you like the last book on the shelf
How to undo loving you is what I lack
I'm far too gone there is no way back

If I try to change the events that's passed
And it makes the future never come to pass
I'll only have you again as mine in the past
And the future will again come way too fast

I fell in so deep not knowing how to dive
Now I have to die just for me to survive
Death the only option to get back my life
Now I have to die just for me to survive.

LOST BOY

Home a lost word, just like my world is lost
Free to the world, imprisoned in my thought
Friends I wish I had, but faces aren't heart
Love is myth, pain occupies my whole heart

Family a strange name, loner my last name
Empty soul, broken spirit, wounded body
Crying smile, bittersweet, happy pain
Nothing to hold unto, they all feel muddy

My nightmare tells my life, truthful stories
While my dreams bring haunted memories
Reality isn't real, dreams is just what I see
Love is a myth as pain is just all that I feel

I'm a lost boy in a lost world, no freedom
Blow the trumpet, save us from this slavery
Let's know where we belong heaven or hell
Because it seems like time no longer tells.

DEATH'S TALE

Dawn turns sunset when I arrive
Earth ready to receive another life
After life becomes your next journey
The beginning of an end, call to glory
Heaven or hell comes after judgement.

LOVE KILLS, PAIN HEALS

I was taught to love, with no directive
I loved too much without being sensitive
Seldom fell in love, but always pulled over
Over and over, I was always told it is over

My face is an ocean of tears, it never dries
My mouth a cave filled with unvoiced words
My heart a planet of defeated love battles
My mind, clouded with unthoughtful thoughts

I fell in so deep not knowing how to dive in Drowning feels shallow so I walked too deep
Thinking brings trauma, sleeping brings pain
Only place I find love for myself is memory lane

I shared my heart until the very last slice
Love always comes with pain, what a price
After all I am left by me and all by myself
So, in all make sure you always love yourself.

MIXED UP

Life told me nothing goes on without it
Death took it all, I'm now left with nothing
Life said after death there's an after life
Death showed me my sins stored in its archive

Love made me feel the deepest part of me
Pain made me go deeper in search of me
Love told me it will show me all that is real
Hate locked me and threw away the key

Day said sun always give's light, don't be afraid
Night came and the moon was covered in shade
Day said it's another day, light is up for me to see
Night came as eclipse, can't even look at it

Future says it holds promises yet to unfold
Karma says it's nothing but loads from old.

DEATH THE RIPPER

I'm the only option when nothing works
Because I bring to stop your lives Clocks
I take you far away from your enemies
Draw you closer to your loved families

I fill people's eyes with flood of hot tears
Mouth with loud cry after deep thoughts
But I go deaf to all as it's not for my ears
I am only around to keep to my words

Life makes humans have importance
But after it, I bring you your relevance
No one tells you rest in peace while alive
But I make you rest in peace after life

I don't take, I just bring to an end
I am just the ripper called Death.

LIVE LIFE

As we are born today, we will die tomorrow
Living today hoping it doesn't end in sorrow
Life is an arena filled with people striving
Many just looking for means of surviving

In pain we cry but still find a way to smile
Never giving up the option never to defile
Making it the only goal of the human race
Being alive problem never ceases to surface

Road to success seldom feels like slavery
Consistency is the mother of all mastery
Seeds we plant, for it to grow we nurture
So, destiny does not die before it's future

Live life for a living, no one is a toy
And laugh off pain with tears of joy.

LAST WORDS

In you I laid and grew for nine months
Clothed and guarded by your womb walls
You birthed me in pains yet with much joy
Air met my breathe when you said it's a boy
Knew I was home when I had my first suck
Your love kept me alive I don't want to die
But it's time to go no need for me to fight
Mum air left my breathe when life just begun

In your lineage I became the first heir
You showered me so much love and care
Taught me how to take my first steps
Deciphered for me puzzles in life steps
Fed me with seasoned food for thought
I watched you as you and death fought
Please prepare a place for me it's my turn
Dad air left my breathe when life just begun

You were the first I ever showed love
Still from me you got your forever love
I'm happy you found love before I'm gone
Sis air left my breathe when life just begun
My time is up even the clock stopped ticking
No one to call even phones stopped ringing
God take me as I am, is all I keep pleading
As I pray heaven's gate be opened for me.

Thanks
